

How to Play

Each player gets one Culture War Bingo card.

Shuffle the call cards and place them face down. Choose one player to be the caller. The caller draws one card and reads the term out loud.

If that term appears on your bingo card, mark the square.

The caller may also read the short explanation below the term, especially if the room wants to talk about what the phrase really means, where it shows up, or what it does to the conversation.

Keep drawing cards until one player gets five in a row, across, down, or diagonal. The center square is free.

The first player to get five in a row calls out:

Culture War Bingo!

Check the winning card against the terms that have been called. If it's correct, that player wins.

Ways to Play

Quick Play

Read only the terms and race to get five in a row.

Conversation Mode

Read the term and the explanation. Let the card start the conversation.

Blackout Mode

Play until one player fills their entire card.

Watch Party Mode

Play during debates, hearings, cable news, political livestreams, or social scrolling. When a term shows up in the wild, mark it.
